“...Who [then] is willing to consecrate his service this day unto the LORD?” 1 Chronicles 29:5

King David made this basic inquiry of the leaders and children of Israel for the purpose of God’s work... for the building of His temple. David himself was the first to offer the best and bounty of his own riches and then asking who would join him in the blessing of giving. The response was overwhelming:

“Then the people rejoiced, for that they offered willingly, because with perfect heart they offered willingly to the LORD: and David the king also rejoiced with great joy.” 1 Chronicles 29:9

Oh what an honor it is to give unto the Lord with a willing heart -- to give your best according to the measures of your own time, talents, and offerings. For there is nothing that we can give that God cannot restore unto us a hundred times over but the real blessing is that through our willingness, we become investors in a plan that is so much bigger than what we could ever accomplish on our own. We can encourage millions and millions of souls to press on, we can educate thousands who are yearning to learn, share love with some who thought they were not worthy of it, and make a positive difference in lives worldwide. That’s cause enough to rejoice.

When the children of Israel willingly consecrated their service to God on that day, they made an investment in the life of you and me. “Who then is willing to consecrate his service this day unto the LORD?”
